

Portuguese as a Foreign Language Course

20th Edition

4th of July to 29th of July 2016

Courses

The Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities of Universidade Nova de Lisboa has organized since 1997 courses in Portuguese as a Foreign Language, which take place in July. These courses are aimed at students who wish to learn or improve their knowledge of the Portuguese language.

Besides language classes, the course also includes language workshops, conferences on Portuguese culture (literature, cinema / theatre and history) and cultural activities.

Levels

- Beginner (A1)
- Elementary (A2)
- Intermediate (B1)
- Upper Intermediate (B2)
- Advanced (C1)

Schedule

The courses have a workload of 64h.

Classes are from Monday to Friday, from 10:00 to 13:00. Cultural activities take place in the afternoons or on Saturdays.

Evaluation

Students are evaluated through direct observation of their participation, oral/written tests and a final exam.

Certification

In order to obtain a course certificate, students must attend a minimum of 75% of classes and achieve a pass classification.

Students who have attended the course but have not satisfied the minimum requirements for a pass classification will receive an attendance certificate.

Each level is worth 4 ECTS credit units.

Course fee

The course has a total fee of 470€ (or 490€):

- Payable at registration: 170€ (until 19th of June) or 190€ (from 20th of June)

- Payable on the first day of classes: 300€

The payment can be made in cash, in the Faculty services, or by bank transfer.
