WELCOME TO THE BLENDED INTENSIVE PROGRAMME!

University of Rijeka, Croatia

15/09/2025 – 19/09/2025

Inspired by the spirit of Professor Balthazar, the extraordinary scientist from a popular Croatian cartoon whose inventions enhance the lives of his town's residents, we created the BIP programme „Professor Balthazar's Lab of Active Citizenship”. The name of Professor Baltazar has become synonymous with innovation and a commitment to community improvement, embodying the values on which this programme is founded. Less known is that the animated town where Professor Balthazar lives and works was inspired by the city of Rijeka and its architecture, spirit of openness, and social diversity. This connection encouraged us to think beyond conventional naming of the programme and to anchor the programme in a local cultural reference that resonates globally. Professor Balthazar's Lab of Active Citizenship reflects the values of creativity, solidarity and civic engagement and pays tribute to Rijeka as a symbolic stage or laboratory for practicing active citizenship skills.

The main objective of the programme is to empower students to become active, engaged, and responsible citizens who promote the principles of democracy, social responsibility, sustainability, and social justice.

On ZOOM...

The virtual part of the programme also serves for disseminating the guidelines for participation. In the virtual component, students will receive assignment instructions and guidelines for engaging with the literature, which will prepare them for active participation in the physical part of the programme.

To ensure a smooth and productive experience, participants will be informed about technical requirements, communication protocols (familiarize themselves with the virtual learning platform), and the programme's schedule.

In Rijeka...

During the programme, participants will actively exercise participation in democratic life by engaging in critical discussions on societal challenges such as democracy, social inequalities, and educational equity by collaboratively proposing solutions aimed at fostering inclusive, participatory practices within education and their broader communities. By connecting students from Croatia, Serbia, Austria, Norway (and potentially other interested countries) the programme cultivates a transnational learning community in which participants develop transversal competencies, such as critical thinking, intercultural dialogue and collaborative problem-solving which is essential for democratic participation and for initiating meaningful educational and social change.

The programme will also include activities such as visits to local NGO-s, museums, and cultural centres (etc.) to foster the integration of theoretical knowledge with practical experiences.

These activities will offer students the chance to engage with cultural heritage, fostering a deeper understanding of the social and cultural contexts integral to the programme.

A more detailed preliminary programme will be presented at the first online meeting.
